

New login process for Activio with static gauges

(This applies from version 5.2.0.1)

1. Press "Start" to start the login process.

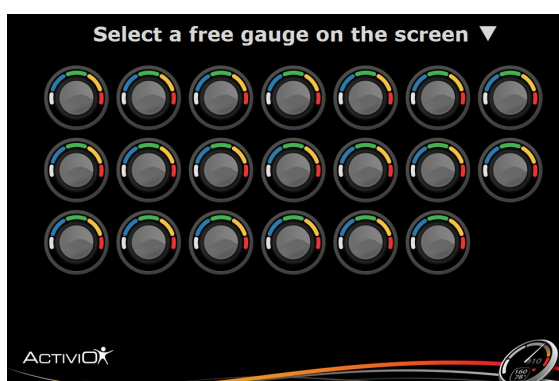

If you have a myActivio account and want to login with your profile, press "Login".

From this view, you can also change the max heart rate or logout your gauge.

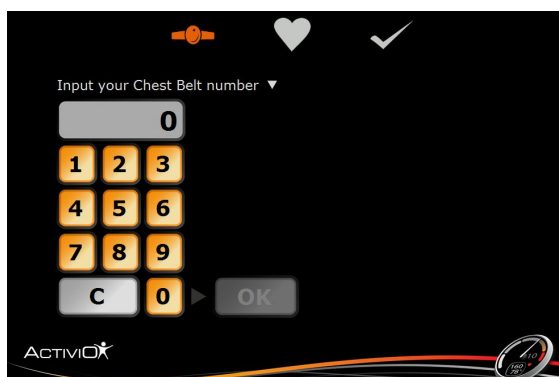

2. Select a free gauge. The new gauge-buttons shows the exact position of the gauge on the projection screen. You can select any position regardless of the chest belt number, they are not related.

A taken gauge is marked red.

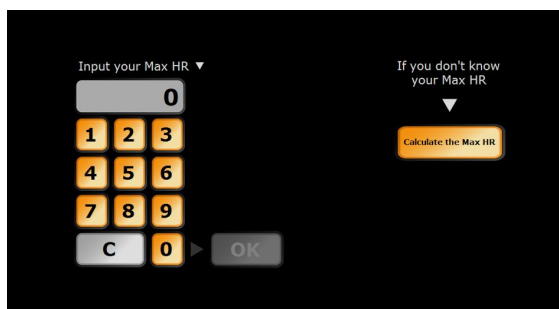

3. Enter the number for your chest belt, i.e. number 7.

Remember, this has nothing to do with your gauge position.

4. Enter your max heart rate as usual.

5. Press OK and you are logged in. On the gauge, that is located on the large screen as you selected it, the number of the chest belt is displayed.
